

SUMMARY OF EXAMINER INTERVIEW

Applicants would like to thank the Examiner for granting an interview on February 13, 2007. During the Interview Applicants pointed out several aspects of claim 1 that were not described in the Lichtry reference. Specifically, the Lichtry reference does not state that the account name proposed by AOL is derived from the stem of a user proposed account name. Further, the Lichtry reference does not teach or suggest building an account name using a word taken from a pre-existing list nor does the reference teach or suggest comparing a generated account name with existing account names to determine uniqueness.